

---

Our attorneys counsel individuals and other startups regarding preparations to compete. We also represent corporate officers and executives in negotiations with new employers. Our attorneys provide the information and advice necessary for our clients to understand and comply with their duties of loyalty and confidentiality, as well as other fiduciary obligations. We also draft and negotiate employment and compensation packages on behalf of high-level corporate executives who are transitioning to a new employer.