Overview

Amy E. Lehman is of counsel in the Firm's real estate department. She handles a variety of transactional real estate matters, including commercial leasing, acquisitions and dispositions, and real estate finance.

Amy has represented landlords and tenants, including Fortune 500 companies, technology companies, institutional owners, and insurance companies in the preparation, negotiation and review of office and retail leases, ground leases, subleases, license agreements and related documentation.

She has represented clients in the acquisition, disposition and development of real estate, including office buildings, shopping centers, commercial mixed-use projects and multi-family housing projects.

Amy also has represented lenders (including conduit lenders), servicers and borrowers in the negotiation and documentation of loan originations, loan assumptions and loan servicing matters.

Prior to joining Shartsis Friese, Amy was a partner at SSL Law Firm LLP.
