Dana Kennedy is a strategic and pragmatic partner helping clients through every step of the CEQA and land use entitlement process.

Dana Kennedy focuses her practice entirely on land use entitlements, a notoriously complex undertaking statewide and particularly in the Bay Area. Dana advises landowners, tenants, developers and investors at every stage of the land use process, from diligence to public hearings, administrative appeal proceedings and project implementation. She offers thoughtful guidance throughout the CEQA process, with an eye towards defensibility against project opposition.

For residential projects, Dana adeptly leverages the ever-expanding slate of state housing laws, such as the Housing Accountability Act (including the “Builder’s Remedy”), State Density Bonus Law and SB 330 protections. She negotiates public/private real estate arrangements, such as development agreements, and has drafted and secured general plan amendments and rezoning actions. Dana has successfully entitled a diverse range of projects, from high-rise, mixed-use residential towers in the heart of San Francisco to large, single-family home subdivisions in smaller jurisdictions, and commercial, industrial and institutional development projects up and down California.

More than a decade of experience has also given Dana access to decision-makers and strategic consultants — collaborators enjoy working with her because she is relatable and practical. Dana was previously a shareholder at Miller Starr Regalia, and she started her
