Sanjeet is a trial lawyer, representing private companies, family businesses, technology startups, and their owners and managers in a variety of business disputes.

Sanjeet focuses on fiduciary disputes among founders, investors and managers of corporations, LLCs and partnerships. He provides pre-litigation counselling on management rights, dissolutions, shareholder buyouts, books and records access, profit sharing, and control of operations and finances. When litigation is necessary, he aims to litigate forcefully, but efficiently, to achieve the best results for his clients.

In addition to fiduciary matters, Sanjeet handles insurance coverage cases on behalf of policyholders, as well as contractual disputes and business torts, including solicitation of employees and customers, theft of trade secrets and usurpation of business opportunities. He works closely with clients to navigate complex disputes and reach practical, cost-effective resolutions that align with their business goals.

Sanjeet represents clients in a variety of forums, including in mediation, arbitration and state and federal court. He has substantial courtroom experience, has argued (and prevailed) before the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, and has tried several cases.
